Necessary? Overkill? Recommended

Consider who your customers are.

Busy housewife or business person can order from their laptop or smartphone, and some will want to come into the shop at lunch to collect it (and they may not head home straight away – so they’ll want to keep their order chilled) or they come into the shop after work

Having the option of collecting their meat order in a chilled insulated box will make the purchasing experience more appealing.

‘Click & Collection station: Recommended that you have a section of the shop they can quickly come and collect & pay for it. Plus having a chilled box near the collection point could make it quicker & more convenient for you – everything is kept chilled ready for collection.
